Shoemaker nixes run for provincial seat

Coun. Matthew Shoemaker will not be running for a provincial seat in the coming byelection.

Matthew Shoemaker has decided that he will not hoist the Liberal banner in Sault Ste. Marie's provincial byelection.

Shoemaker, a first-term Ward 3 councillor, said he put a lot of thought into the decision and consulted with his family and friends.

"There is no one reason why I am not running, but a number of things," he explained.

Shoemaker has rolled up his sleeves and delved into his city council work, a job he says he doesn't take lightly.

With 67 motions penned throughout the first portion of his term, Shoemaker thinks he can best work for the city at the council table.

Wynne must call the byelection by June 30, a maximum of six months after Oraziotti resigned.
